

getting personal

Bob Rohrer, account exec on the Yamaha motorcycle account in the Los Angeles office of Botsford Ketchum, likes to be sure he completely knows the product. When he worked for Cessna Aircraft a few years ago he learned to fly, so it isn't surprising that he now puts Yamaha motorcycles through their paces nearly every weekend. He's shown here at the starting line for a recent race.

